TOPIC	DISCUSSION	CONCLUSION
Review Staff Input on Homework Policy	Q: What about reading requirements/agreements (per grade level) in minutes per day/week. Possibly add some sort of info about: - screen time vs. non screen time? - possibly video game info? - info about routines for bedtimes, how to wind down, researched recommended of number of hours of sleep info sheet? Compact addresses screen time.	-Late homeworks: grade level agreement Possibly during Inservice/Preservice days, staff will put some resources together in the staff room of agreed upon common pieces of homework (ex: math facts sheets, writing?) - Homework weekly/daily= grade level specific Reading expected every day? = yes! (but can distribute a weekly reading log) -School Wide Incentive: Each class sets a percentage goal, kids who meet get ind recognition in class (have a menu of options), then schoolwide recognition at end of each term at PBIS Assembly (3x per year), - New Homework Policy will be included in the updated PBIS Handbook
Review Fall Parent Survey and identify strengths and weaknesses	(See survey for data) We need a greater sample from our population to get better/more information Should we do a hardcopy survey?- it seemed to get better, more specific results in the past. Could it be a mix of computer/handwritten comments? Should we do it at the BBQ or Multicultural night?	Let's do the survey at Multicultural Night (to gather more data), we will have some kind of incentive; we will have 6 iPads or so, and we will look at the survey data next year. Jenny and Candice will run the station.
SUN Report: Sarai	It looks like SUN will hit its target numbers this year to continue the SUN grant. Sarai's goal for next year is to find more partnerships (Tae Kwon Do, theater, martial arts, etc) Reading was the academic focus for this year.

Work for next year:	Mission/Vision statements are usually revisited periodically, so	We will start this process next year.
Mission/Vision Statement	we're due for a review to see what changes need to be made.
